DERBY, Conn., Feb. 18.-Starving and nearly frozen, aged Mr. and Mrs. Michael Burns were found Saturday crouched beside a mud fireplace in a cowshed on their farm at Ansonia. They were waiting for either death or spring, they told neigh-bors. Burns is fifty-six years old and his wife sixty.

Last spring their house, bought with the savings of years of frugality, was burned to the ground. The insurance money went to the holder of the mortgage. Burns re-fused to abandon the small farm, and the couple took to the only remaining build-ing, a dilapidated two-room shed. Living in one room themselves, they stabled three cows in the other. During the summer they raised potatoes, on which they lived. When winter came both fuel and food became scarce. The wind swept through cracks an inch wide, and the small mud fireplace failed to thaw the rows of icicles hanging from the ceiling. The cows were killed one by one for beef and the Super-intendent of Charities found today the only food left was a heap of frozen potatoes, from which daily supplies had been hacked out with an axe. Mrs. Burns is seriously ill from exposure. Both she and her husband have wasted to skin and bone As they own the property and refuse to leave it, the Board of Charities is in a quandary as to what to do with them,

CHICAGO, Feb. 18.-Local manufacturers of agricultural and other implements her hatchet until there is not a rum shop will suffer a loss aggregating $20,000,000 a year as a result of the recent rulings of Secretary Gage, inflicting a discriminating duty upon Russian sugar, for which Russia has levied retaliatory duties of 30 per cent, which are practically prohibitory, upon tools and implements made in the United States.

Two-thirds of this class of exports to Russia come from Secretary Gage's own State and city. The law goes into effect March to The Illinois firms most affected by the measure are the McCormick and Deering Harvester companies, the Illinois Steel Company, the Plano Manufacturing Company, the Kingman Manufacturing Company, of Peoria, and several others at Rockford, Moline, and other parts of the State. These companies export several thousand machines to Russia each year, to an amount aggregating nearly $20,000,000 or two-thirds of the business affected by the retaliatory measures. This export business will be entirely ruined. Secretary John M. Glenn, of the Manu-facturers' Association, said:

The members of our association were informed some time ago by their salesmen of the threat of Russia that, if Secretary Gage levied a discriminating duty against Russian sugar in favor of the sugar millionaires of the United States, something serious might be expected in the way of retaliation from the Russian Government.
